European Cup Final for Combined Events

Barry Trowbridge reports

All-Comers' Records For Pottel And Neubert

ALTHOUGH RAINER Pottel and Ramona Neubert treated the sparse crowds to new UK all-comers' and competition records at Birmingham's Alexander Stadium on August 29th/30th, the European Cup Final for Combined Events will be more remembered for what didn't happen, than what did.

DECATHLON

Had it not been for the fact that we hosted the match, our decathletes would probably (assuming, even, that everybody was performing at full throttle) not have qualified for the final, but with inclusion guaranteed, and this a non-Championship year, it is difficult to understand Daley Thompson's decision to 'decline selection'. Admittedly, track-wise, he does not receive the same volume of 'invitations' to spectacles as our other three Moscow winners, and can, quite rightly, claim that the decathlon is a much-neglected event in this country, but with some TV coverage assured for both days he surely missed a golden opportunity to educate the general public. Besides that, he would probably have won as well!

However, he didn't compete, yet did attend the meeting, which saw Pottel put in an early claim for individual honours, take the lead by the end of the long jump and relinquish it only once, when Yuriy Kutsenko scaled 2.07m to his 2.01. Kutsenko, the Olympic runner-up and heading the 1981 world rankings prior to the meeting, would, no doubt, have had a lot to say about the eventual outcome, and may well have just pipped Pottel for top spot, but he was just one of six withdrawals as the contest developed. Apparently he had a bad stomach upset during the night and was too drained to continue, which seemed strangely ironic after the British complaints in Moscow last year.

Two other competitors failed to make Sunday morning, and, unfortunately, they were both British, thus eliminating the team — best three to score — from the competition. Neither, in fact, progressed beyond the high jump, as Pan Zeniou found that sciatic trouble meant that he couldn't take off effectively — he no-heighted opening at 1.75m — and Brad McStravick was forced to retire after clearing 1.80m with pulled muscles in the pelvic region.

At the end of the first day, on which the weather was sometimes dull, often wet and always overcast, the GDR (12,410) held a 47 point lead over their German neighbours (12,363) and the USSR (12,122) occupied a clear third ahead of Poland (11,796), Switzerland (11,561) and Bulgaria (11,375). At this stage Germany actually held the strongest position, with their four athletes all in the leading seven. Their fourth man held a 300-plus lead over GDR's Steffen Grummt — a fact that was to prove decisive within the next 24 hours.

The day started with Switzerland surprisingly taking the initiative as they won the first three heats of the 100m, all into a slight headwind, with Michele Reufenacht leading the way with 10.90, but by the time the scoreboard — ably manned throughout by David Shaw(!), after initial instruction, courtesy of Barry Willis and Mike Farrell — had anything significant to show, Teutonic long jumping and shot putting had come into play and the two Germany's were at the top. The eventual winner and runner-up led proceedings in the former: Pottel with 7.68m and Jurgen Hingsen with 7.69; and in the latter only Grummt (15.17m) and Siegfried Stark (15.11) exceeded 15m.

Soviet athletes took control of the high jump, Sergey Zhelanov clearing 2.10m at the first attempt, to Kutsenko's 2.07, but the Germans re-established themselves very firmly in the 400m with four heat wins, three seconds and five of the eight fastest times, Andreas Rizzi leading the way with the only sub-48 sec clocking of 47.87 to move up to 7th place overall and emphasise the West German threat.

Of the British athletes, only Colin Boreham, in 16th spot, and Greg Richards, 24th, were left in. Despite this lowly position, Richards was going well, having long jumped 7.21m, only 1cm below his legal best, and finished with a pb 400m of 49.84. His only target for Sunday was an improved overall pb, which stood at the start of the meeting at 7395, scored at the same venue just four weeks before.

Guido Kratschmer, whose season's best before the meeting was 8066 — almost 600 points adrift of his 1980 world record — started the second day with the fastest hurdles time of 14.41, and with Siegfried Wentz and Hingsen also winning their heats, West Germany were back in front, by 23 points. Kutsenko's withdrawal was announced prior to the hurdles, and when Atanas Andonov, the leading Bulgarian, made his exit at the start of the discus it was very much a question of 'who's next?'

Stephen Niklaus, who was 8th overnight, did his cause no good by fouling three times in the discus, won by Stark with 48.08m, and with just three events to go the GDR had closed the gap to a mere five points.

Even with two pools of only 12, the vault competition went on for four hours, with Stark (5.00m), Uwe Freimuth (4.90) and Pottel (4.80) helping the GDR along with their 1000+ scores. Zhelanov also went over 4.80, but his compatriot, Konstantin Akhapiin — who had to stay in the competition for the Soviets to score — and Pierino Pampuri of Switzerland, failed to register heights. He then withdrew, leaving 23. The advantage now looked to be firmly back with the GDR, as they held a 332 points buffer with just the javelin and 1500m to go, but either at the end of the vault or in the first round of the javelin tragedy struck in the form of a thigh injury to Stark. He withdrew from the vault after only one attempt at 5.10, and could only manage 49.70m, a no throw and a pass in the javelin when 65m is well within his capabilities. The West Germans were quick to realise the implications of this and launched their spears accordingly. In the first pool, Hingsen threw 63.94 to gain 70 points on Grummt, just in case he was needed, Wentz then answered Pottel's 67.46 with his only legal throw of 68.18 and, in the final pool, Kratschmer used all his experience to lose just 18 points to Freimuth, whilst gaining 111 on the unfortunate Stark. With just the 1500m remaining, the deficit was down to 162, and by the rules of competition the leading three teams were all to run together.

For the East Germans to have any chance at all Stark had to finish, and not too far adrift. Accordingly they tried immediately to slow the race right down, thereby compressing the field, but those from the 'other side' were quick enough to counter this play and took over. Stark limped round in 5:15.05, but ahead of him the damage had been done. Hingsen and Wentz led Pottel home, with Kratschmer taking more points out of Freimuth. West Germany were there by 173 points — a 335 point turn round on the last event.

Individually, Pottel improved his pb from 8195, last year, to 8311, for a UK all-comers' and best score in the European Cup, as five men topped 8000, including Kratschmer who set a season's best of 8095. Marek Kubiszewski withdrew before the last event to bring the casualty list up to six, with only the two German teams finishing four.

Colin Boreham placed 13th, well down on his best, but as the sun shone brightly on the second day Greg Richards had a great second series. He improved his decathlon-best marks in the discus and vault, to 42.58 and 4.60 respectively, and then set an all-time pb in the 1500 of 4:23.26 to add 25 points to his best decathlon score.

HEPTATHLON

The disaster that at least waited until the fourth event before affecting the British decathletes struck much faster at the girls' team as Judy Livermore had her catastrophe in the very first race of the meeting.

With Tessa Sanderson "tired after an arduous season" and Sarah Rowe enjoying a well-earned rest — if competing for Wales at high jump and hurdles in Norway is a rest — after her fourth place in Utrecht, any chances of Britain finishing anywhere above last were already quite slim, but when Judy failed to scale the second barrier, the writing was most definitely on the wall.

That the GDR was going to win convincingly was never in doubt, and by the end of the meeting they had amassed an outstanding 865 point advantage over their nearest rivals, packing their entire team in the first five individual places, with only Sabine Everts preventing a complete whitewash.

Perhaps it was the fact that Judy was drawn against Ramona Neubert and Sabine Everts, ranked one and two in the world, in that first race that affected her performance, but what happened was that she came out of her seldom used blocks much too fast and failed to chop by the first flight. She crashed through it and then pulled up short of the second, disgusted. It looked at first as if her blocks slipped — certainly her reaction suggested this — but, after studying a video of the start, team officials Pat Green and Bruce Longden assured me that this was not the case and that no appeal for a re-run would be made. Neubert got the better of Everts to set the GDR machine on its way, and with the aid of 13.36 from Sabine Mobius, it took an immediate 48 point lead over the USSR.

By virtue of a 15.17m throw from Ekaterina Gordienko, who took over the individual lead, the Soviets closed the gap a little in the shot event, but with some excellent high jumping, led by Heidrun Geissler's 1.87m, the GDR opened a gap of 276 points, which was never to be reduced. The West German pair of Everts (1.78) and Cornelia Sulek (1.81), Bulgaria's Emilia Pentcheva (1.78), and GDR's Anke Vater (1.78) also scored over 1000 points, but Neubert was close behind with a 1.75 which was enough to take her into the lead for the first time, where she remained throughout.

The first day ended with the East German girls taking three of the four 200m races, although their highest scorer was Neubert, who finished second to Everts in the fastest heat. Their overnight lead was 372 points, from the USSR who were engaged in a battle for second with Germany, and were just holding them off, by 14 points. Kathy Warren, the inaugural WAAA champion, finished the day with a pb 24.77 for the 200m and held 13th place; Sarah Owen was in 16th and Val Walsh, only just 17 and gaining her first Senior vest, was in 23rd, with only Judy Livermore behind her, Judy having scored 2613 points from just three events. Neubert led the competition with 3694, but only ten points separated the next three — Gordienko (3607), Everts (3602) and Mobius (3597).

Not letting up at all, the GDR scored four of the top five long jump marks with, again, Everts being the only girl to intervene, but of the 12 jumps, the worst was 6.15m from Neubert (she did follow that with 6.51), and that mark was only beaten three times, by other girls, Everts twice and Gordienko, in the entire competition. Gordienko, in fact, jumped 6.20m and dropped three places, to fifth, whilst Germany moved up into second in the team event . . . a mere 730 points adrift.

Still a new event for multi-eventers, the javelin understandably yielded comparatively low scores, with two of the Soviet girls, Gordienko and Natalia Shubenkova, actually recording three fouls. After appeal, Shubenkova was allowed an extra trial, as was Siegfried Wentz in the decathlon, and she answered with the competition's best mark, 44.58m, but Gordienko's nil meant that second place was now firmly with the West Germans. Neubert's 39.96m provided her with a 145 point lead with just the 800m left.

The British girls and the Hungarians contested the first heat, and Kathy Warren's 2:12.67 was well worth waiting for. It was a solo effort and a new pb, and enough to place her 14th overall, ahead of 6212-performer, Nadezhda Vinogradova. Sarah Owen finished three places behind, in 17th, Val Walsh, who also closed with an 800m pb (2:22.78), in 22nd and Judy Livermore 23rd, ahead of Monika Krolkiewicz, who failed to complete her 800m.

Sabine Everts won the very last race, in 2:09.53, with the blue vests occupying the next four places, but nobody was going to steal either theirs or Ramona Neubert's glory. She finished second and chalked up her fifth 900-plus score of the competition, for a new UK all-comers' record of 6391 . . . but her lowest ever in a heptathlon.

The match was sponsored by Guardian Royal Exchange who, with the excellent help of Andrew Huxtable, produced a very informative programme covering the two days. I can't close without mentioning the three Junior members of the multi-events squad, Joanne Taylor, Tom Leeson and Eugene Gilkes, who were brought in as helpers and were given the opportunity to experience a top-level competition. This was an excellent idea from the management, and I was left wondering just what they would have done without the particular help of photo-finish runner, sandpit raker, discus and javelin carrier extraordinaire, Eugene (The Hat(s)) Gilkes — a good all-round performance.

John Keddie, the Scottish AAA historian, is particularly anxious to trace a copy of Alfred Shrubbs's programme of 1904 when world records were set at Glasgow for various distances. Anybody who is able to help is asked to contact him on 01-641 1397.

FOUND — at the Skipton BS Meeting at Carlisle on August 23rd, a black track suit top and a pair of new running shoes. Ring Malcolm Robinson on Carlisle 29424 to claim.

Martin Duff, of 15 Nursery Road, Taplow, Maidenhead, Berks is trying to obtain, in total, about 50 back copies of 'AW' covering the years 1964-66, 1969 and 1970. We cannot help him, but if you can would you please contact him on 06286 61601 (h) or 0306 5981 (b).

Guess Who's Taking On Kratochvilova At 400?

THE MOST FASCINATING among several intriguing clashes at a star-studded IAC/Coca-Cola International at Crystal Palace on September 11th will occur in the women's 400. Jarmila Kratochvilova, who missed Marita Koch's world record of 48.60 by 1/100th in Rome last Sunday, will be challenged by Jos Hoyte-Smith (Commonwealth record holder at 50.88), Michelle Scutt, Verona Elder, Janine MacGregor, Angela Bridgeman, Yvette Wray... and, wait for it, Kathy Smallwood! Kathy, fresh from her marvellous 11.10 100 in the World Cup (which ranks her 5th in the world this year), will be out to remove a big chunk from her personal best of 54.3 in this her first serious attempt at the event, and we might just be in on the start of an exciting new phase of her athletic career.

The meeting, a sell-out as usual, has attracted a host of big names, including two of Britain's Olympic champions and World Cup heroes in Allan Wells and Steve Ovett. Wells is expected to face Ernest Obeng, the man who came so very close to beating him in Rome, in the 100 and it's possible he'll line up also for the 200 in which Mel Lattany is a probable starter. Ovett will choose between the mile (against John Walker, Robert Nemeth, John Robson, Ian Stewart, Jim Espir) and the 2 miles (Steve Cram, Eamonn Coghlan, Colin Reitz).

The 5000 features Henry Rono, who will be out to break his own world record if he hadn't already succeeded in doing so in Italy two days earlier, and the British contingent will include Nat Muir, Julian Goater, Andy Armitage, Steve Jones and Paul Davies-Hale. Another of the world's superstars, Renaldo Nehemiah, appears in the 110 hurdles and behind him there could be an almighty battle between Julius Ivan, who represented Europe in Rome, and Mark Holtom, who didn't but thought he should have. Maybe this time, if the wind reading is valid, Holtom will finally capture the UK record.

Other interesting confrontations will include James Robinson v Garry Cook and Chris McGeorge in the 800; Karl-Hans Riehm against Klaus Ploghaus and Martin Girvan in the hammer (the first three rounds of which will take place before any other event starts); and Tessa Sanderson v Fatima Whitbread in the javelin. A superb evening's entertainment is assured.

HELP NEEDED BY VETS AC

Can anybody help the Veterans' AC by providing a venue for cross-country races in the London area?

We have received very kind offers from clubs some way out of London but it has been found in practice that the majority of our members like to run somewhat closer to town and readily accessible by public transport, such as Putney Vale and other similar locations.

Can any small club with a club headquarters and some cross-country facility nearby offer the Vets' AC a home for which they would be very pleased to pay a share of the rental and running costs? Ideally we would like a venue where the present club are either so small that they would enjoy running with us or, alternatively, when they are away from home and do not use their club it is available for the Vets' AC.

If any clubs in the London area can assist I would be most grateful if they could get in touch with me.

C.W.M. McDowell,

(President, Vets' AC), St. Christophers,
13 Gilhams Avenue, Banstead, Surrey.

THREE WORLD RECORD MILES IN NINE DAYS!

Coe 3:48.53 in Zurich, Ovett 3:48.40 in Koblenz, Coe 3:47.33 in Brussels

THE STORY so far. It was in Oslo on July 17th 1979, the occasion being the Golden Mile, that Seb Coe — racing the distance for only the third time in as many years — first shook the world of miling to its foundations. Already holder of a stunning world 800m record of 1:42.33 he had, prior to that Oslo race, never run a mile faster than 3:57.7. By not only soundly defeating one of the greatest fields ever assembled but in the process setting a world record of 3:48.95 Coe suddenly became a serious threat to the man who had dominated the event since 1977 . . . Steve Ovett. That was further emphasised when Coe established a world 1500m record of 3:32.03 a month later. Ovett, previously uninterested in chasing records for the sake of it, responded to this challenge to his reputation as the world's number one, and in Oslo in July 1st 1980 he seized the mile record from Coe with a hand-timed 3:48.8. The Olympics a few weeks later produced a gold medal apiece, albeit in the 'wrong' events, and Ovett sought consolation for defeat at his favourite distance by regaining the 1500m world record. He succeeded, with a 3:31.36 timing in Koblenz on August 27th 1980. With no direct racing confrontation scheduled for 1981 the two men continued their intense rivalry by means of a series of paced record attacks; it may not be as exciting or conclusive as head-to-head competition but it's the next best arrangement until such time as these two supremely gifted runners do meet again on a track. Coe succeeded in reducing his own marks for 800 and 1000 to 1:41.72 and 2:12.18, but

By Mel Watman

Ovett was constantly foiled in his attempts to improve his figures for the 1500 and mile. He ran 3:31.95 in Milan on July 8th, 3:49.25 in Oslo on July 11th, 3:49.66 in Lausanne on July 14th, 3:31.57 in Budapest on July 29th, 3:34.63 in very unfavourable conditions at Fana on August 3rd — a fantastic sequence but deeply frustrating for Steve, and all the more so when, while Ovett was recovering from a leg injury, Coe relieved him of the world mile record with 3:49.52 in Zurich on August 19th. Now read on . . .

The priority for Steve, once recovered to full fitness, was to get his mile record back — and Steve Ovett, here taking a lap of honour after winning the 1000m at the Talbot Games, had more to smile about in Koblenz where he ran 3:48.40 for the mile. Congratulations for Steve are in order also on the occasion of his marriage to Rachel Waller in Brighton on September 18th. On behalf of all our readers, we at 'AW' wish the couple the very best of luck.

quick. The opportunity came at Koblenz (scene of his 1500 record the year before) on August 26th, just one week after Seb's Zurich exploit. He was originally due to run 1500 but the promoter was happy enough to add a mile race to the programme at Steve's request. Less happy about the switch were some of Steve's scheduled opponents, like Steve Scott, Thomas Wessinghage and Mike Boit, and they decided to stick to the 1500, with Scott winning in the US record time of 3:31.96. The line-up for the mile was Ovett, Dave Moorcroft and Bob Benn from Britain, Craig Masback, Tom Byers and James Robinson from the USA, Amar Brahmia of Algeria and Michael Lederer of Germany.

The ever dependable Benn, a former 47.53 400 performer who trimmed his 800 best to 1:49.5 on August 12th, cut out a suitably brisk first lap of 55.63, followed 3m back by Robinson with Ovett 3rd another stride's length behind. Steve's estimated time for 440y: 56.6. Benn held the lead until, just towards the end of the second lap, the US 800 champion took over to pass the 800 mark in 1:53.59. Ovett was 2m behind and his probable 880y time was 1:54.5. He would need to cover the second half of the race in 1:54 or faster for the record. Robinson plugged away until some 50m short of the bell, a fine effort on his behalf, and then it was Ovett on his own. The time at 1200 was 2:50.62, as against Coe's 2:51.68 in Zurich, and so he must have passed $\frac{3}{4}$ M in around 2:51.5. Ovett, wearing that red Soviet team vest which has featured in so many of his records, had to run the last quarter in no slower than 57 sec — and he made it, just, as he crossed the finish line in 3:48.40 to shave 13/100ths off Coe's record. Masback was 2nd in 3:54.14, Byers 3rd in 3:56.50 and Moorcroft 4th in 4:00.55.

There was much speculation in the Press about whether Ovett's new time would be ratified as the race was not included in the official printed programme but, as IAAF Secretary-General John Holt told Ken Mays of The Daily Telegraph: "Our rule is to ensure that records are not broken in trumped-up meetings. As far as I am concerned this mile was heralded in The Daily Telegraph and other newspapers beforehand, and the fact that it was arranged too late to include it in an already printed programme is a technicality. The Koblenz meeting was properly conducted and, subject to the German Federation submitting this as a record, I would think that when the IAAF meet in Rome it will be recognised. We would lose all credibility if we disqualified this record".

It was Ovett's most uncompromising record attempt to date, striding out for home with well over a lap to go, and he was understandably and justifiably elated with his time. He paid tribute to the 22,000 crowd and to the weather: "It was such a nice change to run at a meeting where it wasn't raining, blowing or doing something to stop me. Everything was ideal. I couldn't waste the chance that gave me". He thanked Benn and Robinson for their help, and added: "I felt good all the way and when I went to the front I knew I had the record. It can go even further".

Prophetic words, for just two nights later — in Brussels on August 28th — Seb Coe achieved what he threatened to do in Zurich . . . he put the mile record 'out of sight' with the fabulous time of 3:47.33. Not since the days of Gunder Hagg and Arne Andersson (the difference being they used to race each other all the time!) has the mile record been swapped about so frequently. The two Swedes, between 1942 and 1945, reduced the record from 4:06.4 to 4:01.3. The two Britons, in the space of two years, have so far improved the mark from 3:49.4 to 3:47.33 but there has been nothing to compare with three world record breaking runs in the space of nine days!

The atmosphere in the Heysel Stadium was electric as the runners for the IAAF Citizen Golden Mile were presented to the crowd of nearly 50,000. What a field it was! Seb Coe and John Robson (UK), Steve Scott, Sydney Maree, Craig Masback and Tom Byers (USA), Eamonn Coghlan and Ray Flynn (Ire), John Walker (NZ), Thomas Wessinghage (Ger), Mike Boit (Ken) and Omer Khalifa (Sud). With a 3:36.35 1500 and 3:55.73 mile, not to mention a sensational victory over Ovett, to his credit Byers was the slowest of the 12 runners — and it was well known that he would be sacrificing his own chances of being dragged to a personal best by acting as hare. As pacemakers go they don't come any classier than Byers and — aware that he hadn't done the best possible job in Zurich due to a cold — he was determined to give Coe more assistance this time.

"I was sick that day in Zurich and faded after only 1000m. Here I could take it all the way to the three-quarters mark in 2:52 and make it that much easier for him", said Byers.

True to his word, the long-haired American went off at a merry clip, towing Coe in his wake. The pace was perfect: 54.92 at 400 by Byers, with Coe passing the 440y mark in 55.3. The only other taker was Boit, whose quarter time would have been around 55.8; the rest of the field were already some 15m behind Coe. The second lap was made to measure too for Coe as he continued to track Byers whose 800 time was 1:52.67. Seb's probable 880y clocking was 1:53.3 and he was on course for the sort of time (3.47 — ish) that had eluded him in Zurich the previous week. He was 1.2 sec up on Ovett's corresponding halfway time, and looking astonishingly relaxed — as was Boit (1:53.6).

"I don't think the mile record has really been tapped yet"

There was a moment of drama at the start of the backstraight on the third lap when Coe was seen to stumble. It transpired that he had caught Byers' heel ("I ran into the back of Tom; it was my fault") but he recovered so quickly that he lost no visible ground on the pacemaker. Despite all his efforts to keep the pot boiling a little longer Byers was starting to flag after two and half laps and with some 130m to go before the bell Coe slipped ahead. He was followed at a distance of two strides by the ever astonishing Boit who, 'officially' 32 but possibly aged 34, is finally realising his potential at the longer distances.

Seb reached the 1200 mark in 2:51.0 and $\frac{3}{4}$ M in 2:51.9, with Mike continuing to lurk menacingly some 3 or 4m down. A great race must have been going on for third but one had eyes only for the two men up front. To break the record Seb needed inside 56.5 for the final quarter, for he was now four-tenths slower than Ovett's phantom at the bell. But, whereas Steve had to run his last lap in isolation, Seb had the spur of knowing that Boit was tracking him ready to capitalise on any weakness. The situation was ideal for Coe, who raced past the 1500m point in 3:32.93 and then really opened up along the finishing straight. Boit maintained his magnificent cadence to the end, running an African record of 3:49.45, and yet he still finished 15m down as Coe stopped the clock at 3:47.33. Despite the early pace Seb had covered the last quarter in 55.5, the final 200 in 27.2, that ultimate 100 in 13.2. Practically unnoticed in all the excitement, Scott took 3rd in 3:51.48 ahead of Maree's personal best of 3:51.81, and Robson wound up 7th in 3:53.13.

Seb was full of praise for Byers ("his help was out of this world") and Boit. "I knew Mike was there all the way and it was tremendous. I knew I couldn't even subconsciously, relax. I had to work all the way to the tape". Can the record be improved? Certainly, says Seb. "I don't think the mile record has really been tapped yet. The time will come out by running more courageously at the start rather than at the finish. I still think it's possible to go through in 2:48, although obviously not finishing as fast".

Despite having now broken the world mile record in his last three outings at the distance (!), plus an Olympic gold medal and former world record at 1500, Coe maintains: "I still don't feel I am primarily a 1500/mile runner". He still considers his 1:41.72 800 is a better record. Coe's world record tally (not counting indoors) now stands at eight, and his success in Brussels meant that British runners completed a clean sweep of victories in this year's series of Golden Events.

EIGHT MORE RECORDS FOR COE

His 800m mark of 1:41.72 remains Seb Coe's favourite athletic record ... but what of the musical variety? On a recent Desert Island Discs show on BBC Radio 4, Seb selected the following eight records — five of them jazz: "History of a boy scout" (Dave Brubeck Quartet); excerpt from Hancock's Half Hour ("A Sunday afternoon at home"); extract from Puccini's "Tosca"; "Georgia on my mind" (Billie Holiday); "Just a closer walk with thee" (World's Greatest Jazz Band); the Olympic Anthem; "Love for sale" (Sidney Bechet); and "A Foggy day in London Town" (Ella Fitzgerald, Louis Armstrong & Oscar Peterson) — this last being the most prized record of all. His choice of a book to while away the hours on his desert island: Penguin's Dorothy Parker anthology.

1. Insole (fixed, soft, comfortable)
 2. Upper: Polyester material with a polyurethane foam on jersey material.
 3. Midsole is in synthetic microcellular rubber with a very low density (light, supple and flexible).
 4. Sole in high density rubber with a new profile "shock absorber".
 5. Wedge is in synthetic microcellular rubber with a low density, light and shock-absorbing.
 6. When the sole makes contact to the ground each nub on the sole is pushed into the mid-sole and/or wedge like a real shock absorber.
 7. When the sole leaves the ground the nub returns to its initial position. When the ground is soft the nub is pushed into the wedge or mid-sole thus permitting a better traction to the ground. When the ground is hard nubs are pushed deeper into the mid-sole or wedge permitting a greater stability of the foot and at the same time conserving an excellent grip of the sole to the ground.
 8. Preformed arch/cookie.
 9. Built in heel counter.
 10. Tongue: polyester foam material.
 11. Padded collar.
 12. Velour leather reinforcement at toe and heel.

BOURNE SPORTS Introduce two for the road.

For millions of joggers the burden of blisters, fatigue and injury has often been allowed to obscure the great pleasures of running.

Whether running for fun, fitness or for fame runners require shoes that meet their specific training and racing needs.

The latest two NIKE additions, THE INTERNATIONALIST and THE MAGNUM, complement the existing range of NIKE training and competition shoes.

THE INTERNATIONALIST is the inheritor of a long train of innovation and enterprise; enterprise that is built around athletes as well as shoe technicians.

Many of the INTERNATIONALIST'S features were first introduced on its predecessors, such as the Waffle sole, the cushioned mid-sole, and the combination of Oxford Nylon and DuroMesh. However, this is where these similarities finish.

The Waffles on the new INTERNATIONALIST are especially large with wide spacing giving a much lighter weight shoe than one would expect from a heavy duty sole, yet maintaining increased cushioning as a result of the additional height on the Waffle.

The abundant mid-sole, particularly at the rear of the shoe, is a major factor in giving the shoe additional absorption qualities, a factor which is especially necessary for slow pace and heavy mileage training. Furthermore, these absorption qualities are not at the expense of durability since the twin stabilisers are placed at the point of heel contact.

The Curved Slip Last used for THE INTERNATIONALIST follows the natural curve of most runners feet and is shaped to allow the toes to spread and the heel to be held firm. The Variable Width Lacing with its staggered eyelet arrangement allows the upper to take the shape of the runners foot. The foot bed made of PermaFoam liner covered with light weight soft Terry, has the capacity to mould to the contours of the foot but not at the expense of comfort or weight. The resulting cradle makes the shoe additionally comfortable. The combination of the above refinements—to the upper, the sole, the cushioning, the lacing, the lining, the supportive elements and the inner sole—add up to a superior training model for runners who do best with the curve lasted shoe. Available in sizes 6-13 and retails at £29.95.

THE MAGNUM developed on a similar curved slip last eliminates weight with little compromise.

Racing puts considerable additional stress on the shoe with the majority of runners tending to roll inwards during competition, thus necessitating additional supportive elements which can be better provided on a sock like slip last. With the addition of the variable width lacing and the new last, proportionately slimmer at the heel, the MAGNUM is a snug and stable shoe for the serious road racer.

THE MAGNUM is available in sizes 6-13 and retails at £27.95.

NOT ONLY, BUT ALSO ...

SEB COE's 3:47.33 mile wasn't the only British exploit of the night at the Ivo Van Damme Memorial Meeting at Brussels. Allan Wells and Nat Muir scored victories, and Julian Goater ran the finest track race of his career.

Despite the race being delayed a long time, with the attendant frustrations and warm-up difficulties, both Wells (lane 3) and Mel Lattany (lane 6) were in hot form and waged a terrific duel, with Allan emerging the winner by just 1/100th in a near-record 20.26, his fastest legal time of the year and second to James Sanford's 20.20 on the world list. Fellow Scot Muir generated some impressive sprint speed too in the final half-lap of the 5000, taking the lead 50m from the finish.

It took as great a runner as world record holder Henry Rono to deny Goater what would have been his most outstanding international success, but Julian's just reward was a superb 10,000 pb of 27:47.54 — an improvement of nearly 8 sec. After reaching halfway in 13:53.2 (Rono 13:53.0), Goater made a splendid break with 11 laps to go, opening up a 15m gap on Rono in the space of 200. At one point, shortly before the 7km mark (19:24.3), his lead was up to 25m but 1½ laps later the Kenyan was in front and then proceeded to draw smoothly away in 27:40.78. Goater gamely plugged on and did well to finish runner-up 50m ahead of Markus Ryffel. Mike McLeod was a distant 4th. Goater's 2km splits were (approx) 5:33, 5:34, 5:31, 5:35 and 5:34.

Other excellent British performances came from Janine MacGregor, under 52 sec for the first time in the 400, and Cherry Hanson who again just failed to crack 2 min for 800 after spirited splits of 27.9, 57.8 and 88.9 behind Fita Lovin and Madeline Manning. American women were responsible for two 1981 world bests: Evelyn Ashford ran a fabulous 200 of 21.84 into a 1.01m/sec wind and Pam Spencer high jumped a US record 1.97m before failing at the world record height of 2.02.

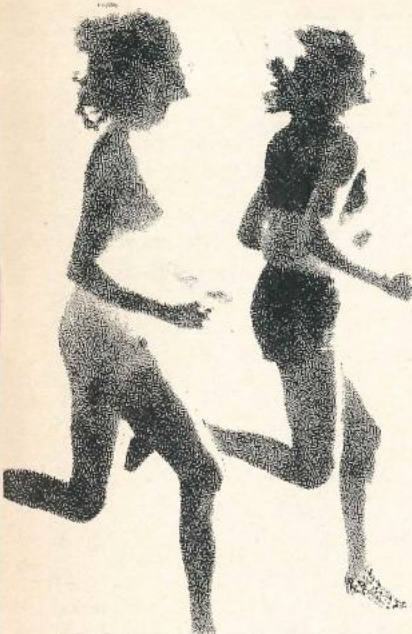

At Brussels, August 28th

Amoco Games, August 31stBrian Smyth reports

ANOTHER EASY WIN FOR ENGLAND

Davies-Hale close to World Junior record

PREPARATIONS FOR next year's Commonwealth Games are going very well indeed, as shown when England breezed to yet another victory, in the Amoco Games against Poland and Switzerland at Crystal Palace on August 31st. The non-emergence of the Cuban team, due to compete at the meeting, meant that it was slightly more of a lack-lustre affair than it would have been, but we were still treated to some good performances by our own athletes.

Almost a world Junior record, but certainly a UK Junior record, fell to European Junior steeplechase champion, Paul Davies-Hale, who became only the second ever Junior in the world to break 8:30 for the three kilometre event. His time of 8:29.85 was agonisingly close to East German Rolf Ponitzsch's mark of 8:29.50, but was well in advance of his own UK mark of 8:34.61 set at the Gateshead Games earlier this year. Paul was only third in the race though, as Colin Reitz became the fastest Briton this year in second, behind 8:23.5 performer, Krzysztof Wesolowski. However, Paul did much of the early running and it was only in the last lap that he lost out although he was catching Colin all the way down the final straight.

The rumour that Mark Holtom is a clone of Berwyn Price was certainly strengthened in his latest outing over the high hurdles. In typical Price fashion, Mark was left in the blocks by 13.68 performer, Romauld Gieguel of Poland. Gieguel led right up to the fifth hurdle, but Holtom made a remarkable recovery and pulled back tremendously over the space of two flights to record another sub-14 clocking. However, Mark's poor starting on occasion, is thankfully, not a natural trait. Injury has prevented him from devoting as much time to starting over the first hurdle in training as he would have liked and therefore, he is lacking — at the moment — in that respect.

Inter-Counties 200m champion, Claude Moseley — who high jumps a bit as well — ran to yet another sub-21 clocking in finishing second to Poland's Laszek Dunecki (6th in last year's Olympic final). Moseley's progress over the past few weeks has been remarkable. With a best of 21.13, he first broke through the 21 second barrier with a CBP 20.83 in the heat of the Inter-Counties, and in the final won, ahead of Earl is pleased to announce

THE XIIth INTERNATIONAL COACHES' CONVENTION

EDINBURGH, 7th-8th NOVEMBER, 1981

The Convention has been built around four themes of PSYCHOLOGY IN ATHLETICS, MOTIVATION IS A CLIMATE — NOT THE WEATHER!
FROM HERO TO ZERO
THE GIFTED ATHLETE AND SELECTION STRATEGIES
PSYCHO-CORRECTIVE TECHNIQUES

Four International authorities will present papers and their contribution will be complemented by case studies, seminars and Market Places — under the direction of Frank Dick, B.A.A.B. Director of Coaching.

In addition the winner of the Dunky Wright Memorial Award Competition will present the winning paper.

The Convention will again be held at Dunfermline College of Physical Education and a special "weekend package" has been arranged with the King James Hotel.

Tulloch who partnered him in this match, in 20.85. In Oslo, over the weekend, he won his first international 200m race in a hand timed 20.7 to Tulloch's 21.0 and this time again went legally under 21 seconds with 20.96. Claude got out well at the start of the race and was second coming into the bend; he couldn't catch Dunecki but again held off Tulloch. He had only just turned 20 the previous day; a great talent to watch out for.

Season's best for Ovett - 1:46.40!

Someone who has been around for quite some time though, Olympic 800m Champion, Steve Ovett, claimed a season's best as he trotted round the two laps in 1:46.40. After an opening lap of 52.7 (Steve 53.0), led by Elmer of Switzerland, a guesting Rob Harrison and European Junior bronze medallist Chris McGeorge, Steve decided to make a move with 250m to go. Chris went with him and they were together all the way round the bend until Steve went for home entering the straight. The result was a one-two for England and another good performance for young McGeorge who must certainly get under 1:47 soon.

Marcus Ryffel made one mistake he will never forget at the finish of the 3000m. After having the race sewn up and raising his hands in victory, he became the victim of a fast finish by Dragan Zdravkovic of Yugoslavia who nipped in front just as they both crossed the line. (Remember Ovett and Treacy in last year's Coca-Cola meeting!).

Not for the first time this year, the match did not include scoring field events. However, we should be thankful that there were any at all, and they resulted in one UK all-comers' record and one performance which came very close.

Tessa Sanderson bounced back well from her defeat in the European Cup to record her second best throw of the season with a sixth round 68.60. Tessa said herself that she wasn't really mentally prepared for the competition and surprised herself with the throw. Recently unemployed, she badly needs sponsorship and a job, but still believes that she can top 70m. Although she was left out of the European team for the World Cup, something she had geared the whole season towards, she still considers this to be her best season ever. Her throw was more than a metre and a half in excess of her own all-comers' record. The triple jump gave some exciting jumping, as Ken Lorraway of Australia came within four centimetres of Viktor Sanev's all-comers' mark. He produced a useful series to win easily as the British challenge from Aston Moore didn't materialise. Lorraway's series: foul, 16.91, 16.85, 16.71, 14.49, foul. Aston never really got it together with only two valid jumps of 16.05 and 16.18, and the grin on his face showed that he knew it as well. Great though to see Mike Makin over 16m again, fresh from his European Junior bronze medal and Conroy Brown came up with a 15.99, after leaping 16.01 in Norway at the weekend to become our latest 16m jumper.

The AAA have done a tremendous amount to develop athletes and athletics through these meetings, with a view to the Commonwealth Games next year, but there will be medals to be won in the field events as well and there is nothing better for bringing out the competitive spirit than wearing the vest of your country when you are competing. In future field events must not be neglected as scoring events.

Walking Commentary

Excellent overall standard in UK v USSR 20km track match, at Gateshead (July 17th). With Lugano Cup selection obviously hanging heavily on the results of the British performers, the times achieved were very heartening. Pyotr Pochenchuk and Nikolay Vinnichenko really upped the pace in the middle stages after a conservative start, dropping Steve Barry coming up to halfway. The Moscow silver medallist dropped his younger countryman just before the bell as he put in a determined final 400m. Although dropped by the Russians, Steve Barry was always within striking distance until the final 2km and once again finished comfortably inside Ken Matthews' old UK record.

With his eye on Lugano Cup selection, Roger Mills was inside 90 minutes for the first time on the track, and finished very strongly, well clear of his nearest challengers for the number two spot. Geordie, Ian McCombie, pulled out his best performance at the distance as he edged out match scorer, Graham Morris, and finished inside 91 minutes. Though he has raced and trained sparingly over recent months, McCombie's natural talent is clearly evident and looks likely to challenge for major championship selection in coming years. Improving his Brighton performance by over a minute, Dave Jarman put in another encouraging effort and is certainly consolidating his outstanding improvement over the past year.

Race walking and those television cameras. The vast majority of race walkers and those who follow the sport are delighted when the sport is portrayed no matter how brief the time may be. The usual commentator, Ron Pickering, invariably gives an informative description of the race and the competitors involved. Inevitably, the slow motion camera and still shots are shown in order to determine the validity of the competitors' progression. However, in the recent UK v USSR match, it would seem that the impression was given that the Russian duo were 'lifting' when, according to the film shown, there was no evidence of that occurring.

While walkers now accept that they, like sportsmen in other fields, will be 'under the camera' to see if they are conforming to the stated rules, they certainly are upset when it is assumed the rules are being flaunted when the camera shows no clear-cut evidence of this happening. May I suggest that film is also shown of the early stages of a race so a group of competitors can be featured, besides the final lap of the leaders as is the usual practice at present.

Large field contests Woodford all-comers 3km (July 8th). Adrian James was a comfortable winner once he had caught early pacesetter, Don Cox, who, together with Ken Carter, showed he is in sharp short distance form. Good to see George Nibre back racing again after a long absence due to injury. 1, A. James (Enf) 13:08; 2, K. Carter (Ang) 13:16; 3, D. Cox (Ilf) 13:31; 4, S. Barry Graham finishes four minutes ahead in the Royal Sutton & Birmingham Open 35km (July 4th). A warm, still and sunny afternoon took its toll with only 35 of the 46 starters completing the course. Olympian, Ian Richards, led at halfway but eventually had to be content with third as the York Postal pair of Barry Graham and Dennis Jackson took the top honours. Ed Shillabeer was the first Vet home in sixth spot and was delighted to reverse the Brighton 24-hour positions on Geoff Tranter. Hew Neilson, holder of the 24-hour track record, was forced to retire after walking for nearly 4½ hours and still facing a last lap of 7.75km. He had unfortunately taken the wrong course early in the race and was well behind the field when he realised the mistake.
